

Opening Scene

Character returns home exhausted

Character throws keys to show frustration

Character lies down from exhaustion looking sad not knowing what to change to stop the cycle

Character hears something outside

Character moves to the window to see the source of the sound

Character seeing people dancing and being happy due to listening to music

Character gets inspired to try the same thing hoping for a change